This symbol represents the spread of sickle cell anemia throughout the world as people began to migrate to other countries.